AGCJ 404: Communicating Agricultural Information to the Public

Week #8: References and Citations using the APA Manual 5th Edition

Authors

- Invert all authors’ names; give surnames and initials for only up to and including 6 authors
- Use commas to separate authors
- See page 224-225 of APA manual for additional guidelines
- Example: Lindner, J., Murphy, T., & Wingenbach, G.

Publication Date

- Use (year) for journals, books, and audiovisual media

Publication Date

- Use (year, month) for meetings, monthly magazines, and newsletters

Publication Date

- Use (in press) for works accepted for publication but not yet printed

Title of Report

- Capitalize only the first word of the title and of the subtitle, if any, and any proper nouns.
- Finish the element with a period.
Title of Work and Publication Information: Periodicals

- Give periodical title in full, in uppercase and lowercase letters.
- Give the volume number of journals, magazines, and newsletters.
- Do not use Vol. before the number. If each issue of a journal begins on page 1, give the issue number in parentheses after the volume number.
- Italicize the name of the periodical and the volume number, if any.

Give inclusive page numbers.

Use commas after the title and volume number.

Finish the element with a period.

Example:

Citing an Internet-only Journal

Citing Within the Text

- If making the citation at the end of a sentence, place authors and year in parentheses (Wingenbach, 2000).
- If there is more than one author, the citation will look like this (Wingenbach & Ladner, 2002).
- “Direct quotes will by cited using quotation marks and page numbers”
  - Ex.: (Ladner, Wingenbach, & Raven, 2002, p. 5).

- Swistock, Sharpe, and Dickison (2001) found the satellite program to be as effective as the traditional workshop.
Citing Within the Text

- It is a “systematic solicitation and collation of judgments on a particular topic through a set of carefully designed sequential questionnaires interspersed with summarized information and feedback of opinions derived from earlier responses” (Debecq, Van de Ven, & Gustafson, 1975, p. 10).
