Stage I Storyboard

Audience

The targeted audience for this Web site is viewers looking for any information about the different types of elephants in the world.

Content

The Web pages will have a safari/jungle them to them. There will be earthy tones to the background and throughout the site. There will be pictures all throughout the Web site and there will also be text talking about each different type of elephant.

Design/Colors/Graphics/Text

The site will be very simple to navigate through. On each page you will click on a picture or link to go to the next page. Each page will function in the same way so it will not be confusing. It will be a professional and informational Web site. As stated before, it will be a very calm, earthy tones, browns, greens, tan and red. There will be pictures throughout the Web pages and most of those will be hyperlinks to go forward. Also there will be plenty of text to talk about each type of elephant and give information.

Technologies

I will mostly be using notepad to create the code for my Web page. But, I will also be using pictures and backgrounds from other Web sites.

Communication

There will be a contact link to a page that has my contact information for any viewer that has questions about the Web site.
